Course Description

BSTD 610 is a semester-long course whose result is the completed MA Thesis. The course earns 15 credits toward the MA degree and its successful completion is a requirement for earning the MA degree.

During the final semester of the program, students work primarily on completing their thesis research and writing with the support of regular meetings with their thesis supervisors. When the supervisor deems the thesis is complete and of satisfactory quality, he or she will make arrangements for a defense with an outside reader (who will become the External Examiner). The defense of the thesis is carried out in examination by the Thesis Supervisor and the External Examiner appointed by the Graduate Committee at CBS as per KU policy.

The thesis should be a well-informed original contribution to the field of Buddhist Studies and demonstrate the student's facility with relevant academic research methods. This contribution may be in the form of an original study of primary literature, original syntheses or analyses of existing research, or other forms of original research.

Assessment

This course is assessed with an 'S' grade (satisfactory) or a 'U' grade (unsatisfactory). A grade of 'S' is required to pass the course and earn the degree.
